Current Objective: Entry Level Role

Personal Statement

Let me introduce myself; I'm Finley Greenaway, a graduate of the University of Gloucestershire with a BA (HONS) in Film Production. Film is a great medium to showcase ideas with a condensed narrative. Being analytical and a storyteller, I always look at a film's critical and production side; I want to bring my ideas to life. I love to ask questions and make the audience analyse the world around them, such as, what if the outcome of WW2 was different? What happens to humanity with advanced technology? I want to be part of that industry, working with like-minded people on various ideas, genres, and projects that will shape the film world. I am currently looking for an entry-level role to bolster my career within the film/TV industry.
